Anniversary Celebration (Nganggung)

On September 17th, Pangkal Pinang celebrated its 258th anniversary. Nganggung, as it is called, is a huge feast and celebration in the city center filled with songs, traditional music, and lots of food. Here ETA Caitlin Jordan (center), poses with some of her fellow teachers and staff from SMKN 2 Pangkal Pinang.

Here Jordan is seen posing with student representatives from SMKN 5 Pangkal Pinang, who asked to take a picture with her. She is wearing a traditional Melayu kebaya and wedding skirt from Palembang and holding a traditional piece of basket weaving from Bangka (that is used for these occasions to cover the food that would soon be enjoyed).

There was prayer for the city, its people and Indonesia, followed by a chaotic, noisy but wonderful lunch feast. This picture was taken as the celebration was coming to a close. Here, Ms. Jordan is posed in an adorable style with two of the best friends she has made so far in Indonesia, Ms. Erka (on the left) and Ms. Siska – called Mango by Ms. Jordan – on the right, as well as Pak Ade, who is a sports teacher at SMKN 2 Pangkal Pinang.

English Community

The English Community students of MAN Magelang gathered for the first English Club event of the year with ETA Safiyah Ismail. A discussion was held about school systems in America. Students from grades 10 and 11 asked questions about the unique diversity of American students and the typical structure of daily life as an American high school student. Students also wanted to hear more about how Muslim students are able to balance performing prayers throughout the day with a school schedule that doesn't cater to a Muslim population. Following these questions, Safiyah Ismail discussed typical after school activities that American high schoolers are involved with: including American football, baseball, softball, volleyball, basketball, student council, and National Honor Society. She also discussed her own personal experiences competing on her high school's cross country team in 5k and 10k races while fasting during the Holy Month of Ramadan.

Idul Adha at SMK Negeri 6 Yogyakarta

Idul Adha is the Feast of the Sacrifice and it honors the willingness of Abraham to sacrifice his son at God's command, demonstrating his complete trust in God. As Abraham was about to sacrifice Isaac, God spared his son and Abraham sacrificed a ram instead. On Idul Adha, animals are sacrificed in remembrance of this story of Abraham and his son.

Like many schools in Indonesia, SMK Negeri 6 Yogyakarta had a school celebration for Idul Adha, which ETA Kendra Reiser was lucky enough to join. The students and faculty of SMKN 6 don't have school on Wednesday or Thursday, which is when Idul Adha is officially observed, so that they could celebrate with their families. However, everyone came to school on Saturday ready for round two of the party.

First Indonesian Wedding

On 5 October, ETAs Kelly Fitzgerald and Caitlin Jordan, took part in their first Indonesian wedding – that of two members of the SMKN 2 Pangkal Pinang teacher and staff family. They bought matching kebaya for the occasion and had their make-up done for them by Ibu Siska. Seen behind them in this photo are the crowds of people that gathered to wish the new couple well.

Jordan was asked to join Ibu Siska (in pink) and Pak Sukarman (center with the mic), also from SMKN 2 Pangkalpinang, in singing a song and dancing for the new couple. Though too shy to sing, Jordan did try her best to dance, even helping a little girl to dance with her as well. At the next wedding, she plans to try her hand at singing!

This group photo was taken as the group was leaving (to go to another wedding party in fact!). Here Jordan, Fitzgerald, and other teachers from SMKN 2 Pangkalpinang surround the bride, Bu Nisa, and the groom, Pak Despri.

Language Learning Club

On Sunday Oct. 11, ETA Ramon Caleon was a judge in a speech and storytelling competition for the Language Learning Club (LLC). LLC is a community of mostly university students who are interested in learning foreign languages, such as English, Japanese, French, and Korean. Even though it is only in its second year, LLC already boasts 30 members from 6 different universities across the city.

The club meets every Sunday, but this Sunday was particularly special, since it organized its first competition for its members. This competition was held in Universitas Lampung, and consisted of both a speech and a storytelling component. The speeches revolved around the themes of the environment, education, and politics, with topics including rubber trees, students' morality and taxation. Contestants' stories were just as varied, ranging from romantic love to a fable about a fox and goat.
