

Fulbright Distinguished Awards in Teaching Program for International Teachers (Fulbright DAI)

A program sponsored by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs (ECA), with funding provided by the U.S. Government and administered by IREX.

APPLICATION FOR EDUCATORS

The U.S. Department of State announces a program for outstanding primary and secondary-level school educators to come to the United States for a professional development opportunity. The Fulbright Distinguished Awards in Teaching Program for International Teachers (Fulbright DAI) seeks to:

- Enhance educators' expertise in their teaching discipline and equip them with a deeper understanding of best educational practices.
- Create among educators a more nuanced understanding of the United States.
- Develop productive and lasting relationships and mutual understanding between the U.S. and international teachers and their students.
- Contribute to improving teaching and learning in participating locations by preparing participants to serve as education leaders who, upon returning home, will apply and share their experience and skills with their peers and students.
- Contribute to improving teaching and learning in U.S. schools as U.S. students learn from international teachers and as U.S. teachers learn new educational practices from their international colleagues.

ELIGIBLE TEACHING POSITIONS AND DISCIPLINES FOR FULBRIGHT DAI ARE:

Primary and secondary school teachers who hold full-time teaching positions in all subjects are eligible. Library media specialists, guidance counselors, curriculum specialists, special education coordinators, and other educators including administrators who work directly with primary and/or secondary students at least fifty percent of their time may also apply to the program.

In Botswana, Senegal, Uganda, Indonesia, the Philippines, Morocco, Bangladesh, India, Brazil, and Mexico teacher trainers are also eligible to apply.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

Fulbright Distinguished Awards in Teaching Program for International Teachers (Fulbright DAI) Application

The Fulbright Distinguished Awards in Teaching (Fulbright DAI) will provide approximately 50 educators with a unique opportunity to develop greater expertise in their subject areas, enhance their teaching skills, increase their knowledge about the United States, and complete an individual or group project. The program will start in August 2024 and conclude in December 2024. Fulbright DAI is a semester-long non-degree, non-credit, professional development program at a U.S. university. Participants will audit courses in the host university's school or department of education, and thus will be part of the university community. The program will include opportunities to observe and co-teach with U.S. teachers in a U.S. school near the host university, in order to actively engage participants in the U.S. classroom environment. Cultural enrichment, mentoring, and support will be provided throughout the program.

After returning home, educators who successfully complete the program will be eligible to compete for small grants for essential teaching materials, to offer follow-on training for other educators, for collaborative projects with participating U.S. schools, and other activities that build on the exchange experience.

For a period of one year after employment or service, employees or immediate family members of employees of U.S. missions abroad who work for the U.S. Department of State, or the U.S. Agency for International Development are not eligible to participate in this program. This includes paid or unpaid employees and consultants; board members or staff of a Fulbright Commission; officers of an organization, in the United States or abroad, and individuals otherwise associated with the organization responsible for nominating or selecting individuals for participation in any exchange program of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. One component of the Fulbright Distinguished Awards in Teaching Program for International Teachers (Fulbright DAI) is to develop and complete a project relevant to classroom practice, teacher professional development, or to otherwise enhance education in your primary or secondary school community. Keeping in mind the challenges you identified in (c) of your Statement of Purpose, please describe a project you would like to undertake while in the United States. Please note that the project may be completed as an individual or group effort. Participants typically use interviews, observations, meetings, and other activities to complete their projects. The research project is intended to be practice-based and is not designed to support the development of dissertations or other research activities. Ph.D. students and researchers are encouraged to apply for the Fulbright Scholar Program or other more relevant programs.

Projects might include developing a unit of study on a specific topic or using specific methodologies, designing professional development workshops for colleagues, creating new educational materials, developing a curriculum or an action plan for differentiated instruction or that meets the needs of marginal populations (girls, immigrant or refugee students, students from low-income families, or other at-risk youth), or other topics of your choice. You will likely make changes to your project ideas once you begin your program in the United States, but please share your current thinking. Use your imagination and plan to remain flexible. Though we cannot guarantee that a host university will have faculty or partner teachers in exactly your area of interest, staff will do their best to connect you with relevant people and resources.
