One day, in a dense tropical jungle

There lived two orangutans named Urang and Otan.
They were twin brothers and they were always together wherever they went.

When they went down to the Forest,
they arrived at the top of a tall ironwood tree.

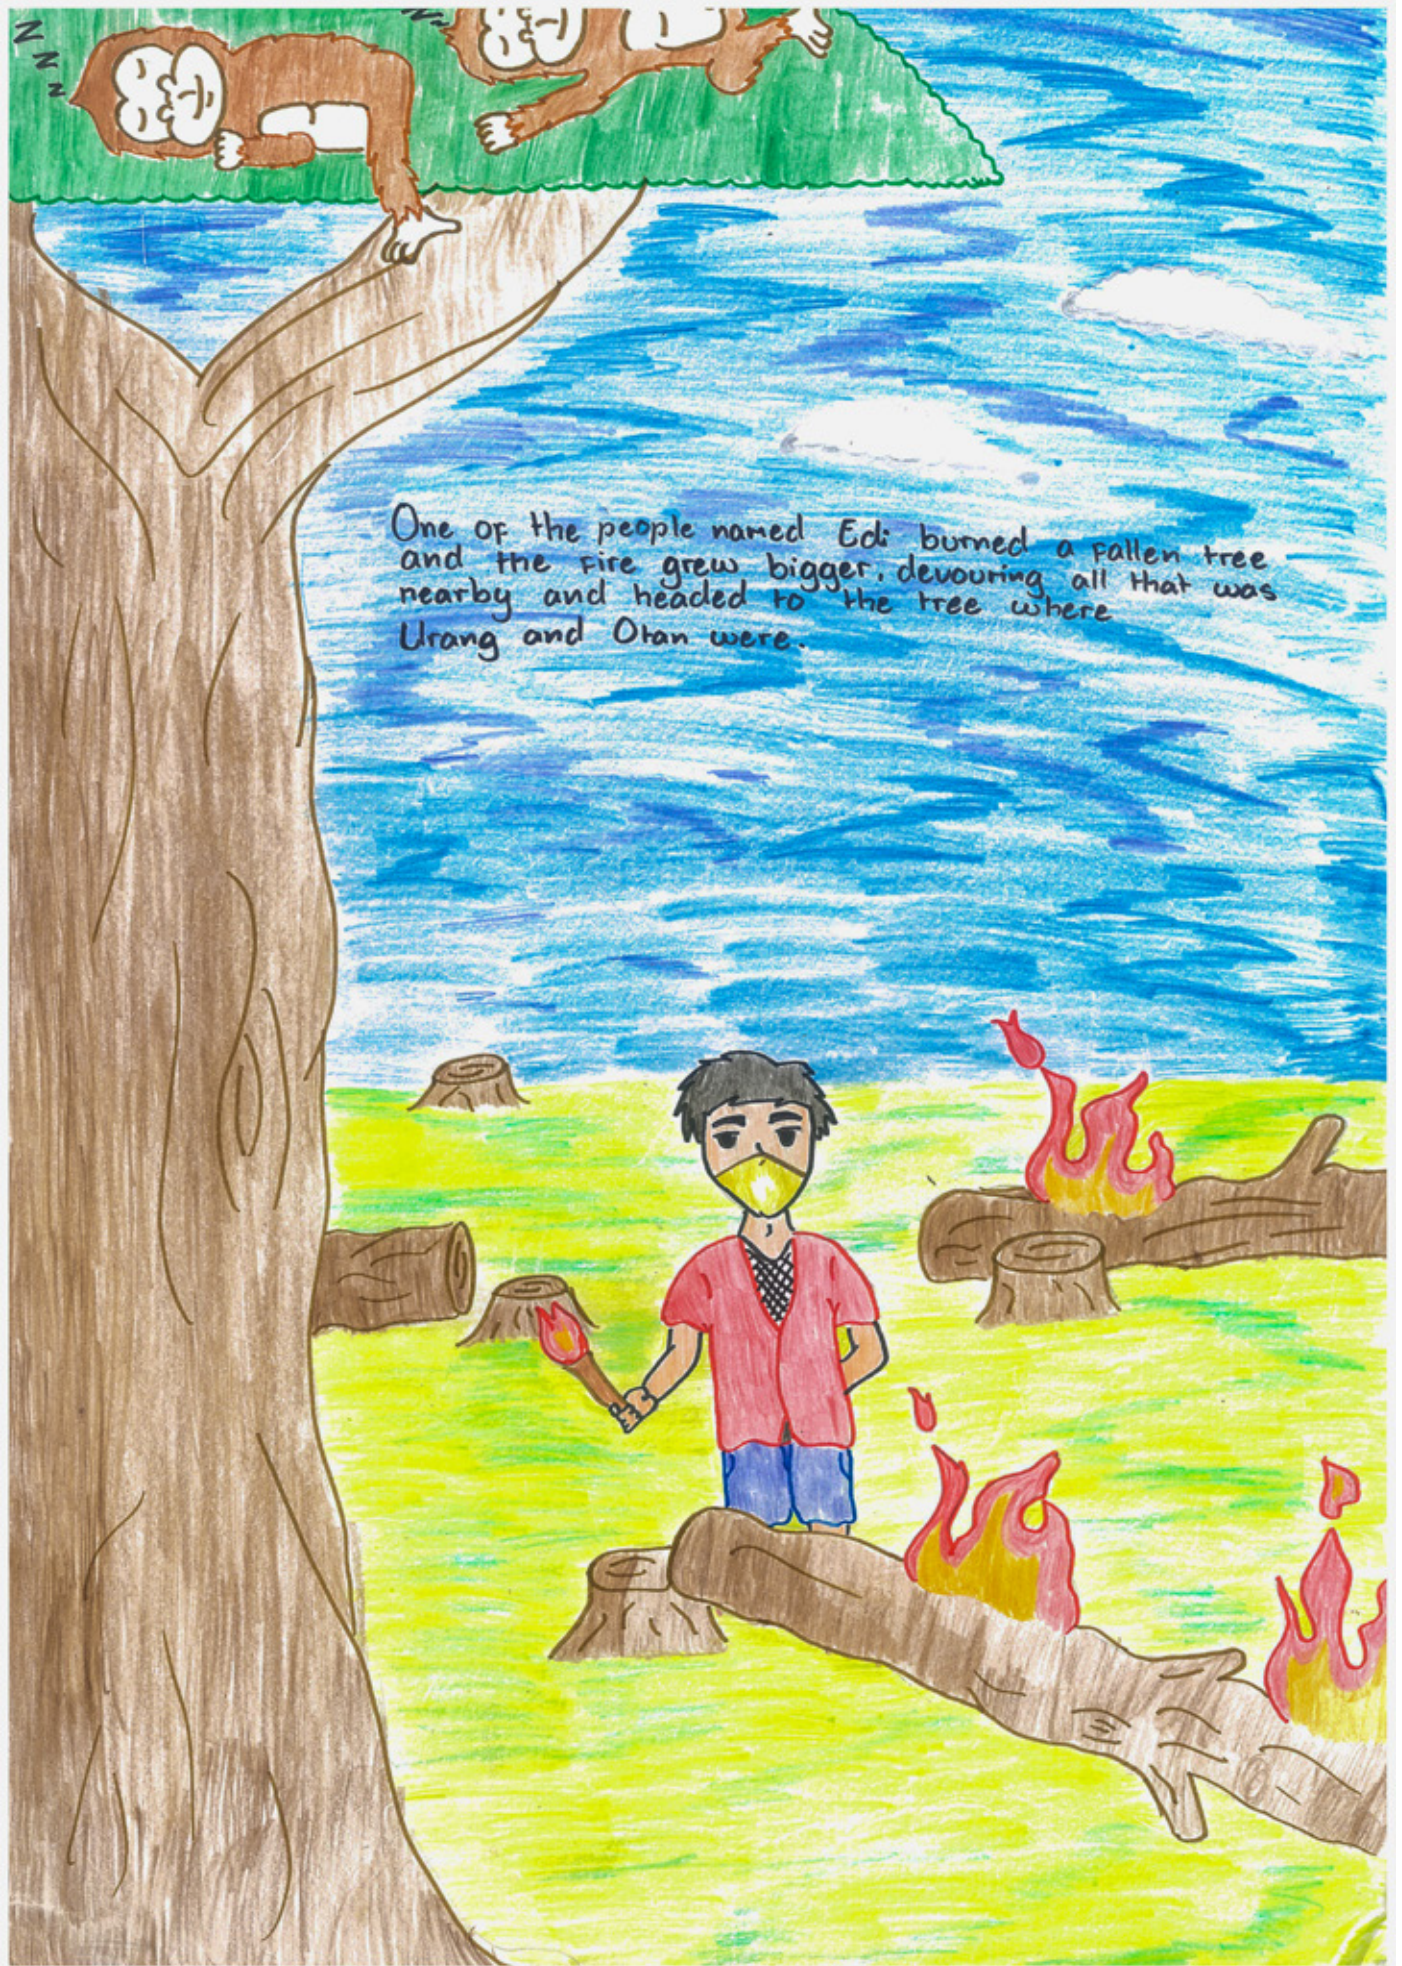

Urang said, "Otan, I'm so tired. Let's just rest here."
"Well, this place seems very good," Otan replied.

They rested and fell asleep because they were very tired.
In the distance, there was a group of people who were clearing land.

The sound of chainsaws was roaring everywhere but Urang and Olan did not care about it.

One of the people named Edi burned a fallen tree nearby and the fire grew bigger, devouring all that was Urang and Otan were.

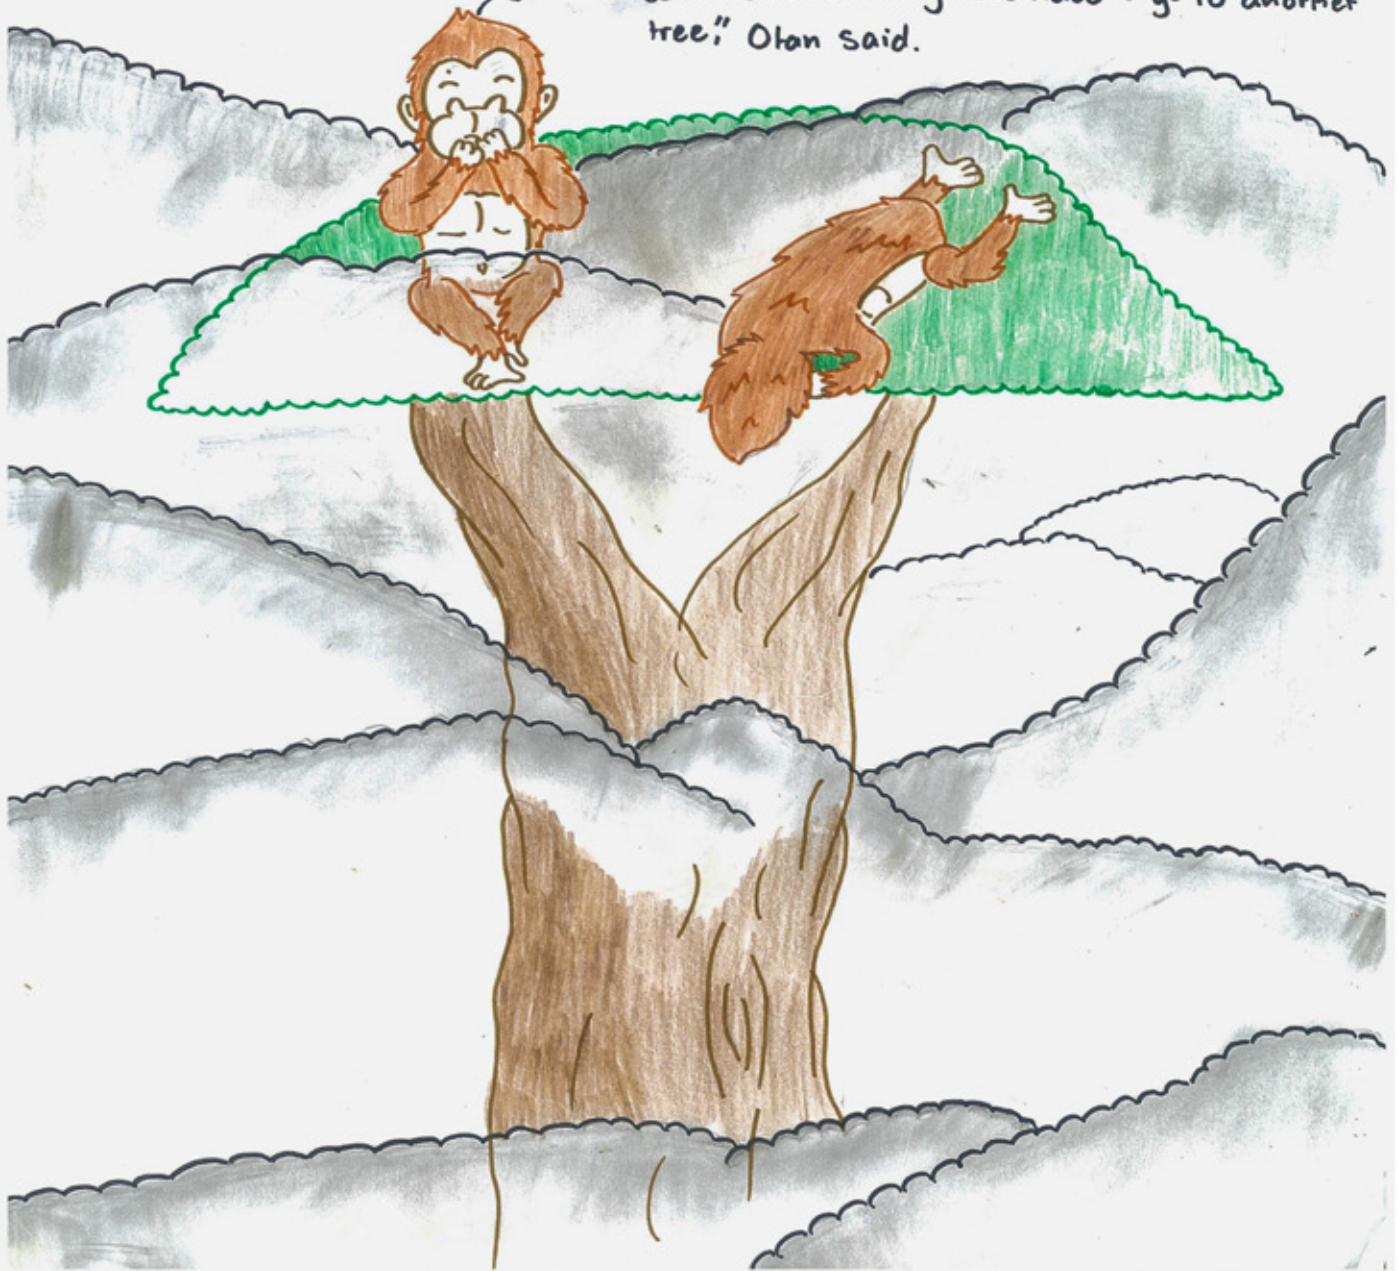

Smoke billowing everywhere made Urang and Olan wake up from their sleep due to the tightness in their lungs.

"Uhukuhuk, what happened? Why is there a lot of thick smoke here?" Olan asked.

Urang, who just woke up from his sleep, immediately looked down and was surprised.

"Olan, we're trapped here and there were flames everywhere," Urang said.

"What?!! Let's hurry, we have to go to another tree," Olan said.

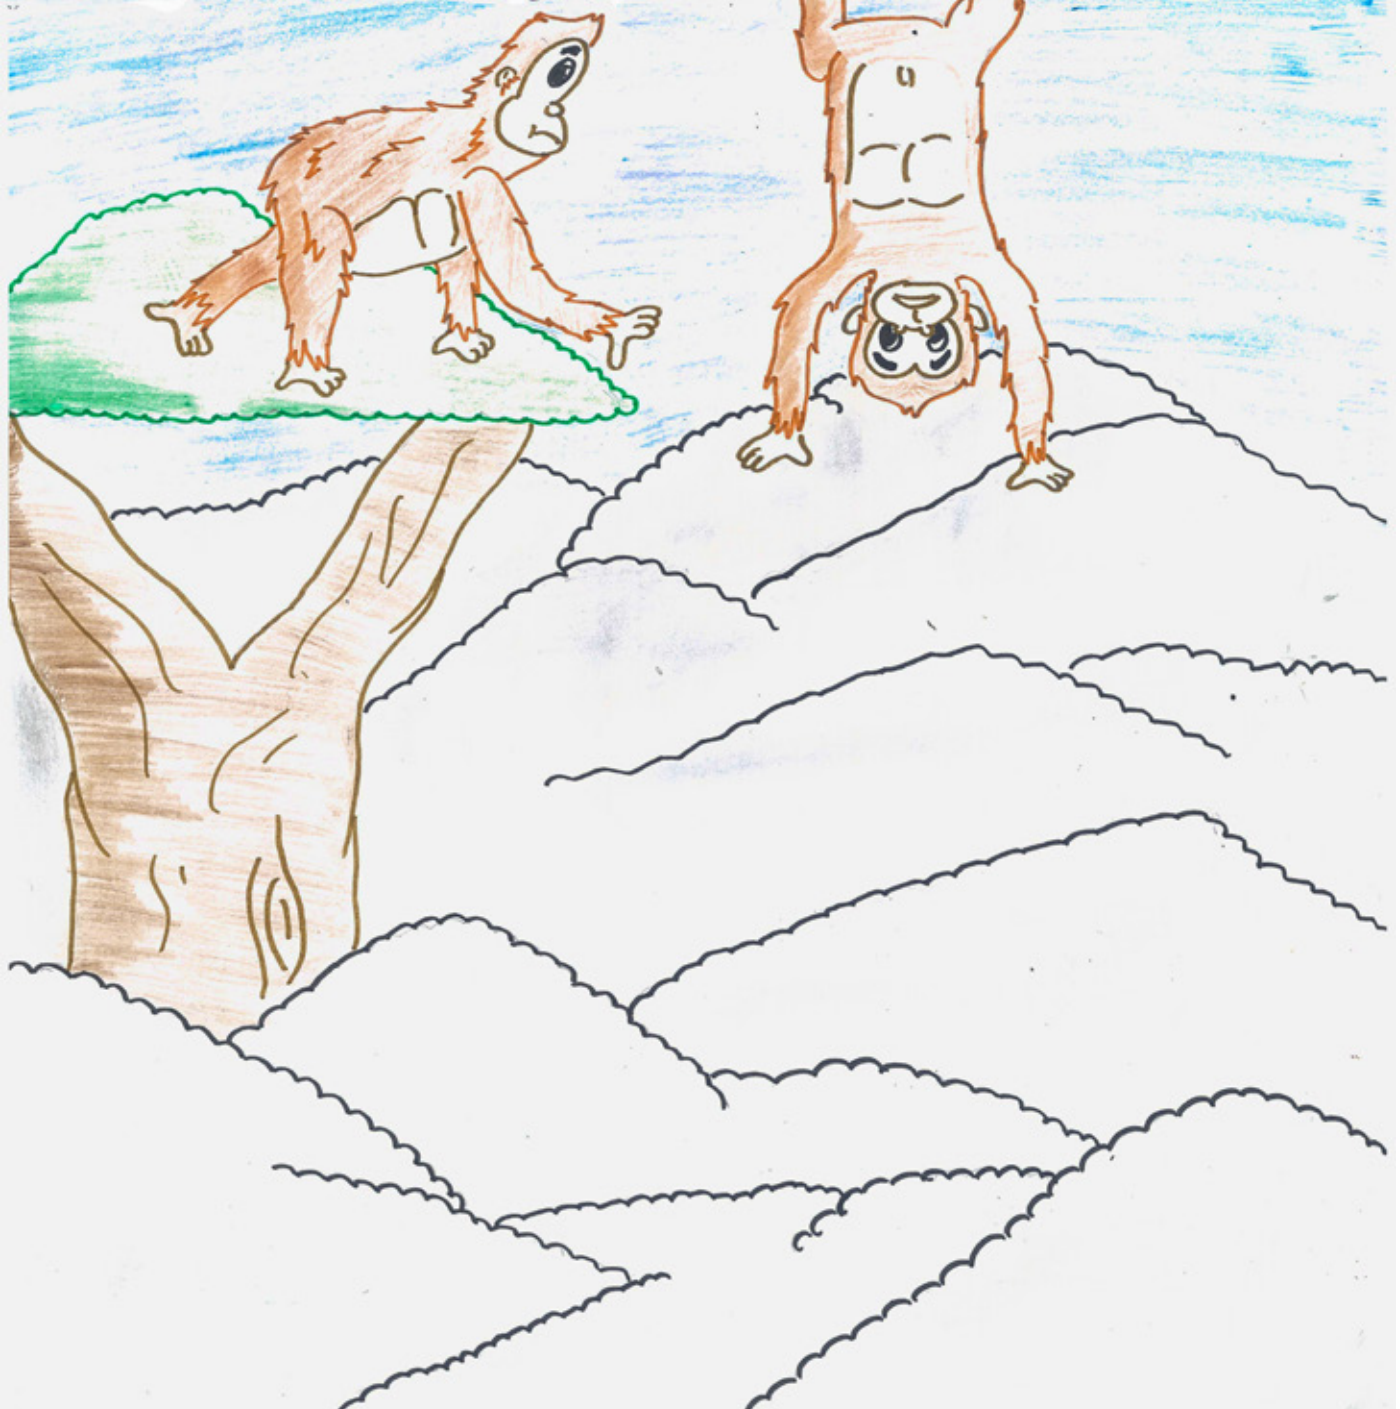

Without thinking, Otan immediately jumped to another tree but failed because he was stuck and hanging.

"Urang, please help me. It's very hot here!"
Otan, who was overheated due to the smoke from the flames, said.

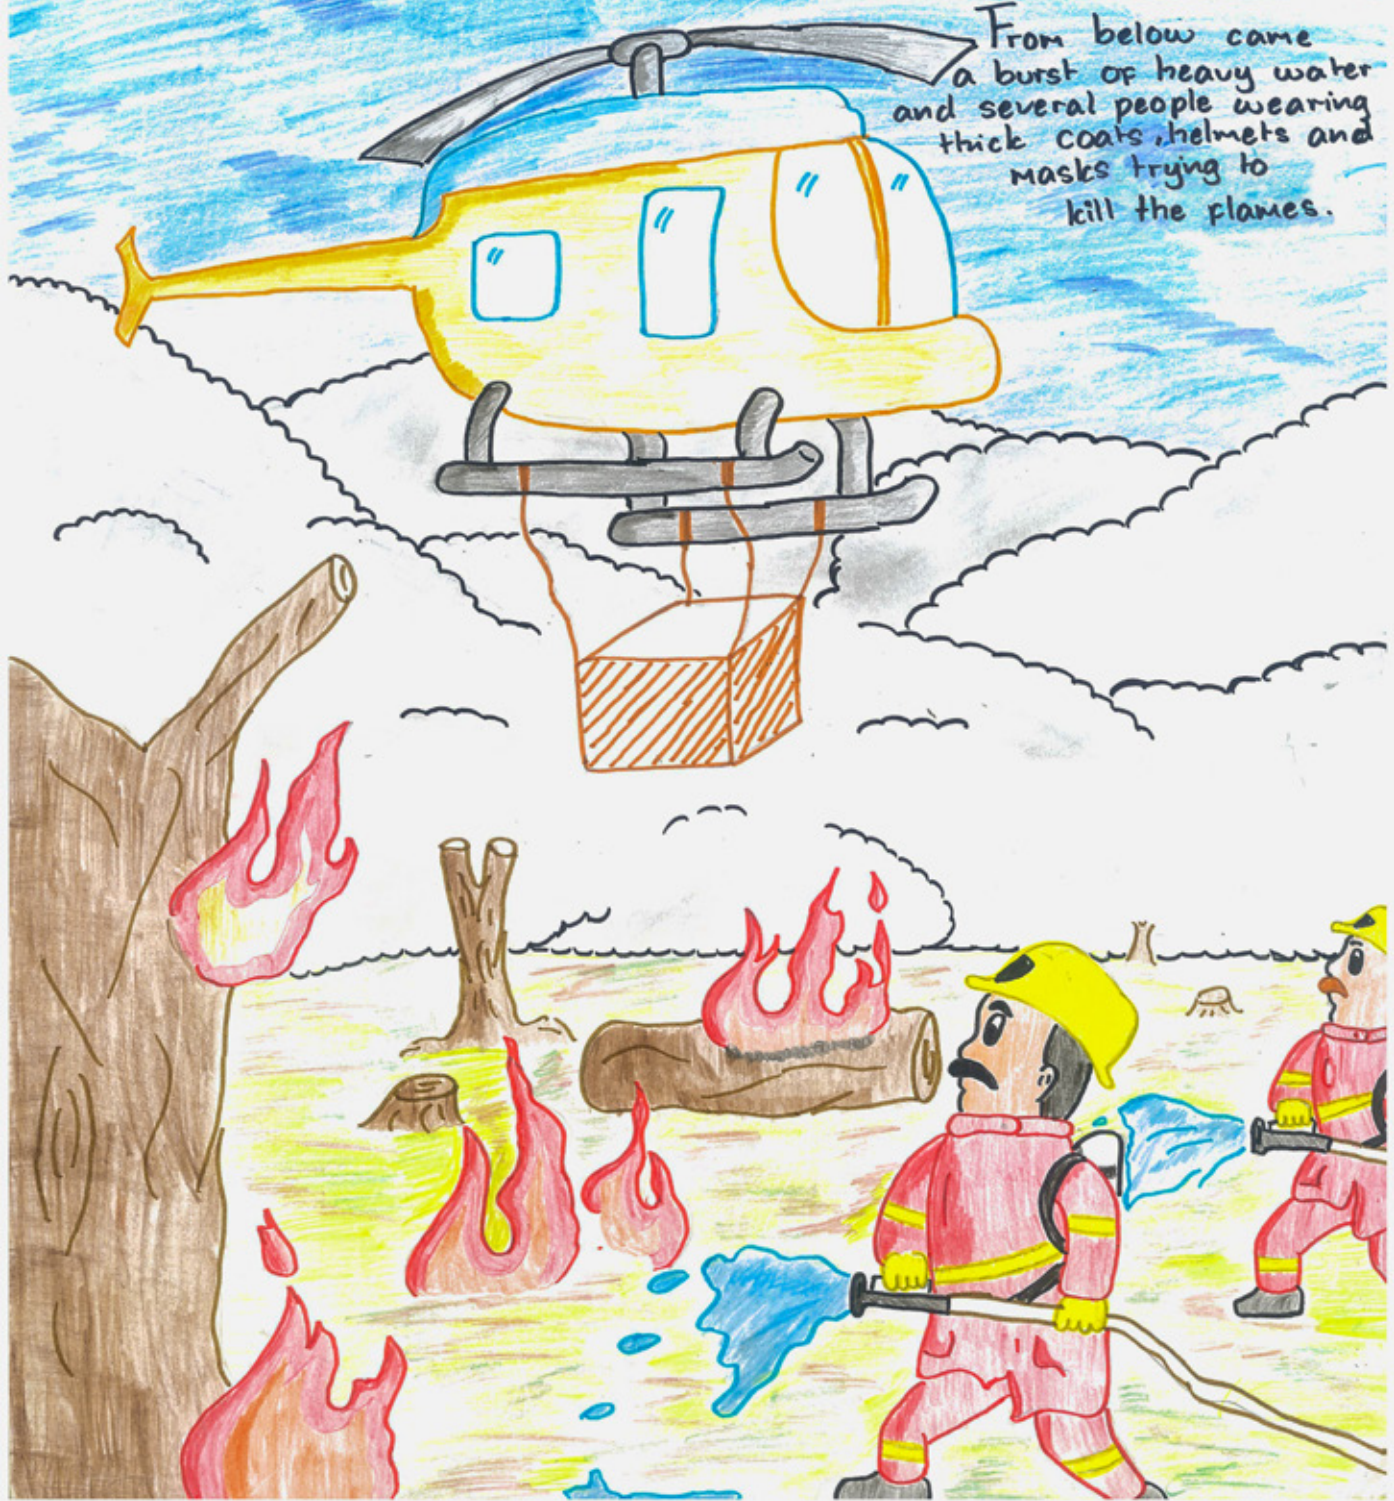

Urang tried to pull Otan back to the tree where they had landed earlier.

"Please help us, we are very hot here," Otan and Urang together said.

Suddenly, a flying object appeared and threw a lot of water toward the flames.

From below came a burst of heavy water and several people wearing thick coats, helmets and masks trying to kill the flames.

"Hey friend, hurry and get me the telecommunication equipment,"
the man who's putting out the flames said.

A few moments later, the telecommunication equipment arrived and the person immediately used it.

Suddenly, came the flying object that Urang and Oton saw earlier, it stopped right above them and a long rope ladder glided down to save Urang and Oton.

Urang and Oton were evacuated from the top of the tree and they were taken to a safe place.

THE END

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Hi, my name is Mario Estanar, but you can call me Mario. I was born in Berau on March 9th, 2004, but I have lived in Sangatta, East Kutai since 2010. My hobbies are swimming, playing futsal, and listening to music. I am involved in many organizations, such as OSIS and the Youth Red Cross, at my school SMAN 2 Sangatta Utara. I hope that in the future, there will be no more burning forests so all animals and plants can live in peace.
